THE AUDITORIUM.

In offering an act like the "Cafe De L'Bowery," the management of the Auditorium are giving the public bet-ter value for their money than ever before. In fact, Hammerstein vaude-ville at Norwich prices, as this act is a recognized feature in all the large metropolitan theaters, and the expense cotalied is entirely out of proportion to atied is entiately out of proportion to small scale of admission staked. In "Cafe De L'Ilowery" ther is noth-heavy or diamatic, just a bunch laughs strung one after the other, author of this piece is Mr. Ren elies the wall known some writer. A clever entertaining couple are Clayton and Retaining couple are Clayton and Bennie, who present a neat pianolog travesty combined with some classy singing. This act is on the order of the act presented by Al and Fanny Steadman, who made such a bit here a short time ago.

A novelty net is that introduced by Mors. Trebeth, with his "musial din-ing table," in which he extracts melody from such commo place articles as cips, plates and the usual arceles seen on a dining table.

AT POLI'S.

With the insuguration of six acts and two reels of motion pictures at Poli's will come some of the biggest acts in vandeville that will put this house on a par with the other Poli houses. Beginning today, an unsurpassed bill will be offered for the first three days of this week, headlined by one of the largest acts in vaudewille. The Boys in Blue. There are 17 people in this act and they go through a number of willtary drill evolutions in a wonderfully quick and neat manner, being drilled by a captain. The close of the act—line scaling of a large, wall—creates great enthusiasm wherever seen. The Three Richardsous. acts in vandeville that will put this was surprised by friends from that locality who visited him in a body at his home in Baltic Saturday evening. "The City."

In "The City" the late Clyde Fitch pared the way for the return to the eans drams—the play of merciless disjection without the needless folbles of stagecraft, the play of thrills, of realism and of sensationalism. "The City" marks the apex of his linearious writwork but from the fact that it has been acclaimed one of the greatest dramas ever produced on the American stage. The Messrs. Shubert gnot to production towards the close of 1909. d now, after its record production of ar at the Luric theater, New York, firm is sending the play to the sum theater. New London, this

To claim that "The City" is a succession of thrills is putting it mildly. To borrow the words of a well known New York reviewer, it is "a perfect bot bed of sensation". In the absorbing second act the author has piled climax upon climax, absolutely ignoring all precedents. It is a sthough the story literally swept the author from the moorings of a stage form and leaped to the logical and only conclusion.

I used to have hearthurn about three times a day and a headache about three or four times a week, and after standing for this for four or five years I began to look around for a crutch, and found it when my doctor told me the best investment I could make would be a fifty cent box of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, and I have invested about fifty cents a month for them ever since and when I stop to think that that is what I spend every day for cigars. I feel like shaking bands with myself, for I can keep my stomach and digestion in first class order for fifty cents a month. I don't care for any better life insurance.

The success of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, is unparalleled. It may be used with perfect confidence by women who suffer from displacements, inflammation, ulceration, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, bearing-down feeling, flatulency, indigestion, dizziness, or nervous prostragestion, dizziness, or nervous prostra-tion.

For thirty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been the standard remedy for female ills, and suffering women owe it to themselves to at least give this medicine a trial. Proof is abundant that it has cured thousands of others, and why should it not cure you?

If you want special advice write Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass., for it. It is free and always helpful.

the wind that moves among the leaves some slim maiden none perceives, Is some slim maiden none perceives,
Who evermore her magic weaves,
And dances;
You hear her feet, as soft as thieves;
And then the silken swish of sleeves,
Fluttered along the forest's caves,
Entrances.

She leans and whispers in the ear Of every wild-flower something dear—How to protect their hearts from feas Of dying.

Then takes the thistle's feathery sphere And glimmers it across the mere, Or on a cobweb, trailing clear, Goes flying.

The butterfly, that comes and goes,
She tosses on the woldwood rose;
And, standing sly on elfin toes,
She teases
The calyxed bee that whines; then blows
Into each bud till wide it grows;
And swift the musk that in it glows
She selzes.

Then, fairy-fair, away she trips, Wild perfume on her wildwood lips, To where, with twinkling finger-tips, Day's daughter,
Dusk, waits her where the silence
